The War in France and Kid Gloves, As an example of great branches of industry which for the time being may be regarded as wholly destroyed in France, that of the manufacture of kid gloves may be particularly referred to. This industry although having its centre nominally in Paris, is really distributed over the whole of Northern France, and affords occupation to a large number of people in widely distant localities. Thus, the skins, a large number of which are imported from Italy, Switzerland and Germany, are tanned at Besancon, Beauvais, Luneville, and a multitude of other places, and then sent to Paris, where the gloves, after being cut to pattern, are distributed throughout the provinces to be sewed by women, who work at their homes. It is thus obvious that with all means of intercommunication and transport broken up or prevented between Paris and the provinces, this industry must of necessity be brought to a complete stand-still, even though the greatly augmented.

Decrease of Chinese Immigration.

The last steamer from Chipa brought only sixty-nine Chinese. For some time past the departures of these people from San Francisco have been more than the arrivals. The number resident in this city is esst mated to be less by 2 000 than it was year ago, and the number in the whole State is probably not over 37,000; whereas a year or two ago it was from 40,000 to 50,000. There has been an excess of arrivals over departures for 1870, thus far, of about 7,000; but this excess has not been concentrated in San Francisco, while death and immigration to other States and Territories have reduced the total number in California considerably. It is probable that there will be no material increase in our Chinese population hereafter. The grand attraction of the surface mines is almost completely gone, the diggings re-maining which Chinese can work being few and poor. The completion of the Pacific railroad returned about 5,000 to a depressed labor market, and caused many to return to China, or emigrate to other portions of this coast. In addition to all these causes, the growing antipathy to the race, and the hard treatment to which it has often been subjected, tended to discourage their coming, and caused the Chinese companies to issue an address advising their countrymen at home to stay there. Congress and the federal authorities, furthermore, have shown a disposition to enforce strictly the laws against coolieism and labor contracts made abroad. Under the operation of all these causes, we may look for a material abatement of Chinese immigration, while the constant tendency to diffusion will operate to prevent any undue accumulation at one point. -San Francisco Bulletin, Dec. 23.

For the Journal. New Hanover Special Tax.

Messrs. Editors: The Board of County Commissioners have asked our Representalives in the Legislature to secure the the taxpayers of the county. They therefore invite an expression of opinion by the taxpayers as to whether such authority should be conferred by the Legislature.

This tax is to be in addition to the ordinary county tax, and is to pay debts contracted by the old Board who failed to itemize and publish their accounts, as required by law.
